承保範圍

If the assured is obliged to provide security to a third party in order to prevent the arrest of, or to obtain the release of, the insured Vessel, due to a loss, occurrence or claim alleged to be covered under this insurance, insurer may, at their discretion, assist the assured by providing the appropriate security e.g. the approved "short form counter security". The providing of security by insurer is not an admission that the loss, occurrence or claim giving rise to the security demand is covered under the insurance.

The agreement of the two leading insurer to assist the assured by providing security shall be binding on all following insurer subscribing to the insurance to the extent of their signed proportions. In the event of agreement to provide security pursuant to this clause, insurer's liability is several and not joint or one with the other and is limited to each insurer's signed proportion of the reinsurance and shall not exceed each insurer's liability in accordance with the terms of the reinsurance.

In the event that insurer provides security pursuant to this clause, any payment(s) made by insurer under the security shall extinguish or reduce the insurer's liability under the insurance in respect of the claim made against the assured and/or the insured Vessel to the extent of such payment(s). Should the loss, occurrence or claim giving rise to the security demand not be covered under the insurance any payment(s) made by insurer under the provisions of this clause shall be promptly reimbursed to them.

Unless otherwise agreed by insurer, the assured undertakes to pay the deductible amount. In addition, any Mortgagees, and/or Assignees, and/or any other party who may have an interest in the insurance or the proceeds of claims recoverable under the insurance shall provide their written agreement to the terms on which security is provided, including the terms of this

Where the loss, occurrence or claim giving rise to the security demand is covered under the insurance, all fees reasonably incurred in connection with the provision of security may form part of any recoverable claim.
